

Senior Project Managers – AASB

BROAD TECHNICAL EXPOSURE

INTERNATIONAL STANDARD SETTING NETWORK

MELBOURNE

---

The Australian Accounting Standards Board (AASB) is a federal government entity established to develop, issue and maintain Australian accounting standards. It contributes to confidence in the Australian economy and trust in external reporting by developing, issuing and maintaining principles-based accounting and reporting standards.

Following an organisational re-structure to better align mission and culture to the needs of business, our client/the AASB is seeking Senior Project Managers to manage assigned technical and research projects relevant to both private and public sectors. The work ranges from complex to highly complex for which high level expertise is required.

This role provides an outstanding networking and relationship building opportunity. Reporting to the Technical Director, the Senior Project Manager will:

- hold responsibility for all aspects of technical projects including preparation and presentation of Board papers, Standards, Exposure Drafts and other publications to ensure quality outcomes
- drive projects and research from the formative stage through to finalisation
- identify and monitor developing issues, and consider the impact on the AASB work program
- build relationships with a broad network of Australian and international stakeholders
- represent the AASB and participating in meetings and roundtable discussions
- respond to highly technical queries from external parties.

To be successful, you will have a strong technical background in accounting with a sound knowledge of Australian corporate law and legislative reform together with a comprehensive understanding of Australian and international accounting standards. You understand good corporate governance principles and practices, have excellent communication skills, and are a willing coach able to lead a team of project managers and graduate accountants. You are tertiary qualified, a Chartered Accountant or equivalent with relevant senior experience.
