Introduction

As agreed with the Department of Finance, the 2018-19 Corporate Plans for the Australian Accounting Standards Board (AASB) and Auditing and Assurance Standards Board (AUASB) have been prepared as a single document, with the specific purpose and significant activities of each Board separately presented where required by Subsection 35(1) of the Public Governance, Performance and Accountability Act 2013.

Accountable authority approval

Australian Accounting Standards Board

I, Kris Peach, as the accountable authority of the Australian Accounting Standards Board, present the 2018-19 AASB Corporate Plan, which is prepared for the 2018-19 period and covers the periods 2018-19 to 2021-22, as required under paragraph 35(1) (b) of the Public Governance, Performance and Accountability Act 2013.

Auditing and Assurance Standards Board

I, Roger Simnett AO, as the accountable authority of the Auditing and Assurance Standards Board, present the 2018-19 AUASB Corporate Plan, which is prepared for the 2018-19 period and covers the periods 2018-19 to 2021- 2022, as required under section 35(1)(b) of the Public Governance, Performance and Accountability.

The purpose of the AASB and AUASB

The AASB and AUASB's (the entities') vision is to contribute to stakeholder confidence in the Australian economy, (including its capital markets); external reporting; and enhanced credibility of external reporting through independent auditing and assurance by:

- developing, issuing and maintaining accounting and assurance standards and guidance that meet user needs and enhance consistency and quality
- contributing to the development of a single set of accounting and assurance standards for world-wide use.

Objectives for accounting and auditing and assurance standard setting in Australia

The entities operate within a framework set out in Part 12 of the Australian Securities and Investments Commission Act 2001 (ASIC Act) (Table 1). The ASIC Act sets out core objectives for accounting and auditing and assurance standard setting in Australia.

Under section 224 of the ASIC Act, the main objects of Part 12 are that:

- a) accounting standards should require the provision of financial information that:
  - i. allows users to make and evaluate decisions about allocating scarce resources
  - ii. assists directors to discharge their obligations in relation to financial reporting
  - iii. is relevant to assessing performance, financial position, financing and investment
  - iv. is relevant and reliable
  - v. facilitates comparability
  - vi. is readily understandable.
- b) auditing and assurance standards should require the provision of information that:
  - i. provides Australian auditors with relevant and comprehensive guidance in forming an opinion about, and reporting on, whether financial reports comply with the requirements of the Corporations Act 2001 (Corporations Act)
  - ii. requires the preparation of auditors' reports that are reliable and readily understandable by the users of the financial reports to which they relate.
- c) the Australian financial reporting system should:
  - i. facilitate the Australian economy by reducing the cost of capital and enabling Australian entities to compete effectively overseas
  - ii. facilitate the Australian economy by having accounting and auditing and assurance standards that are clearly stated and easy to understand
  - iii. maintain investor confidence in the Australian economy, including its capital markets.

Functions

For both entities the Boards perform a technical function and contribute to Board strategy. The Boards do not have supervisory powers in respect of the functions and administration of the Offices of the AASB and the AUASB, which are the responsibility of the respective Chairs.

The Boards do not determine who has to prepare and/or lodge financial statements and what level of assurance is required, if any. They also do not have enforcement powers, but consult with regulators in relation to implementation issues where appropriate.

Accounting standards set out how entities must report externally on key transactions and events, and on their performance and financial health, in a way that is consistent and comparable with other entities in Australia and internationally. This enables people outside the entity to make informed decisions about their dealings with that entity, such as whether to:

- invest in a listed company’s shares
- trade with/extend credit to an entity
- donate to a particular charity
- hold government accountable for use of taxpayer funds.

The transparency, comparability and accountability required by accounting standards underpin public and investor confidence in the Australian economy. They reduce information gaps and enable more efficient resource/capital allocations.

Auditing and assurance standards enable auditors and other assurance practitioners to enhance the credibility of an entity’s performance and reporting, thereby providing entities, users and investors with confidence and trust.

Environment

The Australian Reporting Framework

The entities' visions are to contribute to stakeholder confidence in the Australian economy, (including its capital markets), external reporting and enhanced credibility of external reporting through independent auditing and assurance. To this end, they take a lead role in assisting other regulators to shape the Australian Reporting Framework. Assisting regulators to clarify criteria and thresholds for different types of Australian entities to determine who should report and the appropriate associated level of assurance will provide a more robust framework to balance the costs and benefits of reporting and independent assurance, and result in 'fit for purpose' public information from different types of entities.

The entities also aim to ensure Australia remains at the forefront of international accounting and auditing and assurance practice and that standards are 'fit for purpose' in the Australian environment.

Technological advances, the rise in the importance of non-financial reporting, stakeholder demands for clearer and more frequent information, and the need for international alliances with other standard setters and better empirical evidence to effectively influence international developments, all pose potentially significant challenges.

The entities recognise they need to be more agile and responsive to meet these challenges and the steps it is taking to do so are set out under 'Performance: Achieving our strategy' below.

Setting standards in the global economy

When setting standards, the entities are required to consider the interests of Australian corporations looking to raise capital in major international financial centres and/or who operate internationally.

The International Accounting Standards Board (IASB), International Public Sector Accounting Standards Board (IPSASB) and the International Auditing and Assurance Standards Board (IAASB) are well-recognised as major international accounting, auditing and assurance standard setters, with International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS Standards) and International Standards on Auditing (ISAs) being applied in more than 100 countries.

For this reason, and in accordance with the Financial Reporting Council (FRC) Strategic Direction given to the AASB in 2002<sup>1</sup> and the AUASB in 2005<sup>2</sup>, the AASB has adopted IFRS Standards as the basis for Australian Accounting Standards and the AUASB has adopted ISAs<sup>3</sup> issued by the IAASB as the basis of the AUASB's auditing and assurance standards.

<sup>3</sup> As well as International Standards on Review Engagements (ISREs) and International Standards on Assurance Engagements (ISAEs)

The use of IFRS Standards and ISAs enables Australian entities to raise capital and operate efficiently internationally. This has beneficial flow-on effects in the domestic capital market for all entities and individuals.

However, where IFRS Standards and ISAs do not cover a topic of importance or are not appropriate to the Australian community, the AASB and the AUASB set local standards or add to the international standards to fill that gap.

The AASB and the AUASB consult extensively with Australian entities and other stakeholders, so that they can properly reflect the interests of the Australian community at both the domestic and international levels. The AASB and the AUASB are also increasingly seeking the best available evidence, including empirical research from Australian academics, as a means of influencing internationally and to support the identification of issues, analysis of possible solutions and evidence of impact once a standard is finalised.

The quality of standards developed by the IASB, IPSASB and IAASB are dependent on three factors: quality of board membership, quality of staff resources and effective feedback from constituents. The AASB and the AUASB seek to mitigate potential risks to standards quality by engaging directly with the IASB, IPSASB and IAASB board members and staff, nominating/providing board/advisory committee members, participating in working groups, and by providing input into all significant exposure drafts and other consultation documents.

The AASB and the AUASB also seek to influence the IASB, IPSASB & IAASB by developing close working relationships and alliances with other national standards setters. In particular the accounting and auditing and assurance standard-setting boards in Australia and New Zealand work together in accordance with a protocol that drives co-operation and co-ordination to reduce the transactional costs of entities operating in both Australian and New Zealand markets and achieve other common goals.

The international standard setting environment has complex dynamics. It is both collaborative and competitive; all see the sense of having commonly applied standards but each jurisdiction is keen to promote their own stakeholders' views, and it tends to be dominated by the larger geographical blocs. In this global environment, a national standards setter's reputation is crucial and the AASB and the AUASB's work is well regarded, admired and sought out regularly among other national standard setters.

Regulatory

The AASB and the AUASB are standards setters but (unlike some overseas bodies) not a regulator of their own standards, which is largely the function of the Australian Securities and Investments Commission (ASIC) , Australian Prudential Regulatory Authority (APRA) and other Australian regulatory agencies such as the Australian Charities and Not for Profit Commissions (ACNC) , Australian Taxation Office (ATO) and the Clean Energy Regulator (CER) . The perception of the AASB and AUASB's performance is impacted not only by the AASB and AUASB's own actions, but also how well its standards and guidance are implemented and enforced.

The process by which the AASB and the AUASB formulate its standards and guidance is expansive and interrelated with the international standard-setting processes, as well as being subject to Commonwealth due process requirements. Thorough and wide-ranging consultation with stakeholders is at the core of the AASB and the AUASB's work.

Performance: achieving our strategy

Vision, mission and strategy

The joint strategy developed by both board members and technical staff reflects the interdependence required in order to achieve confidence in the Australian economy.

The vision, mission (Figure 1) and strategic objectives (Table 2) for each Board are aligned where appropriate in order to ensure we deliver on our outcomes.

Activities mapped to strategy and KPIs for measuring success

Key performance indicators (KPIs) that relate to the strategies for each entity for the next four years have been developed (Tables 3 and 4). Annual performance statements and work plans are based on these KPIs.

Additionally, both entities' strategic priorities are mapped to their statutory functions (Tables 5 and 6).

The strategies, deliverables and performance criteria articulated in Tables 3 & 4 are aligned to the AASB's and AUASB's Portfolio Budget Statements ('PBS') for 2018-19.

Many of the entities' priorities and KPIs presented in Tables 3 & 4 are impacted by events not wholly within their control. For example, much of the AASB's work is based on the work of the IASB and IPSASB and the work of the AUASB is based on the work of the IAASB, so delays can affect the AASB and the AUASB's achievement of its key priorities.

Unlike projects influenced by international standards setters and their project timetables, domestic projects are generally within the AASB and the AUASB's control. However, key factors that can influence the success of projects are the actions or published policy documents of other regulatory agencies (for example, ACNC, ASIC, APRA and the ATO) and feedback from constituents.

Capability: Strategic enablers

To achieve its strategies during the period of the Corporate Plan, the AASB and the AUASB will make use of the following enablers:

Our Boards

The entities' board members are experienced and diverse in background. The FRC appoints all board members as individuals, except for the Chairs, who are appointed by the Minister.

Board members serve on Project Advisory Panels and Groups and participate in a range of public forums. In addition:

- the Australian based representatives (if any) on the IPSASB and the IASB's IFRS Interpretations Committee, are observers at AASB meetings
- the Australian based member of the IAASB is an observer at AUASB meetings
- the AASB Chair and the AUASB Chair are both members of the respective New Zealand Boards.

This year the FRC will be advertising for a number of new Board members across both entities. It is anticipated that the new Board Members will further complement the diversity and expertise of the current Boards and bring new insights and skills to assist in assessing the impacts of emerging issues.

People

A shared support model, agreed by both Boards has now been implemented with the appointment of a single National Director and combined corporate services team.

These changes have been supported by changes in systems and processes with the implementation of a new on-line compliance program that is helping us build a more efficient approach to accountability, training and compliance. This year we will continue the deployment of the Financial Management Compliance System (FMCS) and migrate our KPI and performance reporting to the cloud. These changes will allow the teams to collaborate and influence more effectively, focusing on their core skills and delivering quality and cost-effective standards.

Over the past 12 months we have been focusing on the staffing across the entities to ensure we have a broad range of professional backgrounds, including accounting and auditing practice, industry, public sector and academia. Collectively, they possess technical and practical accounting and auditing experience, which they bring to standard setting, together with a paramount understanding of standard setting in the public interest.

In 2018-2019 , we will see the consolidation of the performance management process that has improved staff resilience and trust across the entities and we will ensure we continue our active staff professional development program, which includes coaching and mentoring, secondment opportunities, a graduate cadetship and intern program, as well as opportunities for staff to engage with the Boards, Regulators, other international standard setters, professional accounting firms and corporates.

Technology

The AASB and AUASB are increasingly using online platforms (ie, websites, social media, event management tools, broadcasting) to engage with and educate their constituents. This will continue to evolve as technology and user preferences change.

Technology is also critical to improving knowledge management and reducing compliance risk. The entities have assessed the business needs with a view to achieving the flowing technology objectives:

- Mobility and flexibility of working arrangements
- Collaboration on standards delivery internally and externally
- Productivity efficiency of standards delivery
- Effective internal and external communications
- Connectivity and engagement with external stakeholders

This financial year the entities will be focused on building the foundations of our ICT strategy which will involve the transition to the cloud, deployment of a new operating environment with the shift to Office 365 to allow the teams to operate anywhere, any time and on any device. This will ensure that much of their core operations can be completed efficiently and securely in a flexible and agile work environment. In addition the deployment of cloud based project management and CRM will enhance program and project control, and address compliance risks such as access, document control and record retention. With foundations of the ICT program embedded in both entities, and the immediate business needs satisfied , the program will move towards better integration to release further productivity benefits.

Our peers

The entities have a wide network of contacts among Australian stakeholders who have proven willing to volunteer their time and expertise to help us fulfil our strategies by providing technical input, thoughts and ideas on our work. The AASB and AUASB also have a strong network of contacts throughout the international standard-setting community, which is a valuable source of collaboration and alliances.

Risk oversight and management

Each of the entities has two arms:

1. the Board itself
2. the technical staff of each entity who are employed by their respective entities and support the respective Boards, and the office of the AASB that employs the administrative staff who support the AASB and the AUASB.

The Boards set standards and provide guidance on application of standards with the benefit of information from the staff, preparers, academics, international counterparts, the audit profession, and other sources.

All technical deliberations are conducted in public. Accordingly, the standards setting process is conducted in a transparent manner. The basis for the Boards' major decisions are made public in board meeting minutes and published in Basis for Conclusions documents. The Boards development of standards carefully considers the costs and benefits of introducing new or amended standards, and complies with The Australian Government Guide to Regulation.

The AASB and the AUASB comply with the Commonwealth Risk Management Policy. The policy is reviewed at least annually in consultation with the AASB and AUASB's joint Audit Committee. The Audit Committee is composed of external members and oversees risk management at the administrative level.

This year we are moving our risk management and control assurance into the cloud via the FMCS. This allow us to better assess and understand the enterprise risks, compliance requirements and assurance regarding effectiveness of the control environment, on line and in real time. In addition, with the online breach reporting we will be able to quickly assess in the rare cases where breaches occur, and where required, report them, while providing transparency to the leaders group.
