Purpose

The purposes of this research report are to:

- identify the entities with financial reporting obligations under Federal and State/Territory legislation that will or may be captured by the AASB in Phase 2 of its project to revise the financial reporting framework in Australia and remove entities' ability to lodge special purpose financial statements with regulators¹, and
- group the entities under different reporting categories, which will provide a basis for the Board to consider which entities should be captured by the requirement to prepare financial statements that comply with Australian Accounting Standards (AAS), and ultimately assist in drafting the application paragraphs for the proposed revised accounting standards.

The analysis of the financial reporting requirements specified in legislation will also help in assessing the impact of the proposed changes on Australian entities in the context of preparing the Regulation Impact Statement.

Methodology

Staff undertook a comprehensive review of legislative and regulatory requirements to identify financial reporting requirements of for-profit and not-for-profit private and public sector entities under Federal, State and Territory legislation.

The current versions of legislation and related documents were accessed from the authorised federal, state and territory government legislation websites. Staff also approached state/territory regulators for confirmation and completeness of the initial results, and their feedback has been incorporated.

Based on the analysis, 11 different categories were identified which reflect the current complexity and lack of uniformity in reporting obligations of different entities under different national and state legislation. The categories are listed in the table on the following pages.

As the focus has been on identifying the various categories in relation to drafting the application paragraphs for the accounting standards, the analysis does not take into account that an entity may be subject to multiple legislative requirements under a number of different legislation.

¹ ITC 39 Applying the IASB's Revised Conceptual Framework and Solving the Reporting Entity and Special Purpose Financial Statement Problems

Key Observations

The table below provides a summary of the type of private for-profit entities that are grouped under the different categories. Not-for-profit and public sector entities have been excluded from this analysis, consistent with the AASB’s decision to limit phase 2 of the adoption of the Revised Conceptual Framework to for-profit entities.

Further detail about each of these entities, including qualifications or limitations is provided in the Appendix. The Appendix also covers not-for profit and public entities that are not listed below.

Where the legislation or regulation does not refer to the preparation of financial statements² or a financial report³ as such, this is identified as ‘financial information’ in the analysis, see categories (5)-(7) and (10) below. Financial information comprises:

- specified statements (for example, income and expenditure statement, balance sheet and other specifically identified information), or
- specified information (e.g. financial information to be provided to APRA via prescribed forms).

Where the legislation or regulation requires the maintenance of financial records or certain financial information, but there is no requirement to provide any such financial information to a regulator or to a third party (including members of the entity), this is identified as ‘financial records/other’ (category (11)).

² A complete set of financial statements is defined in AASB 101 paragraph 10 as comprising a statement of financial position, a statement of profit or loss and other comprehensive income, a statement of changes in equity, a statement of cash flows, notes (comprising significant accounting policies and other explanatory information) and comparative information in respect of the preceding period.

⁴ Some of the entities listed below may be for-profit or not-for-profit in nature. However, the analysis below and recommendations made only relate to the for-profit entities.
